AGENDA 1

Addressing the Challenges of 'One Nation, One Election': Analyzing the constitutional, logistical, and democratic implications

Description

The committee will deliberate on the proposal to synchronise elections to the Lok Sabha and State Legislative Assemblies, examining its constitutional, logistical, financial, and democratic implications. Discussions will focus on the constitutional amendments and legal framework required to implement simultaneous elections, the impact on the federal structure, and the functioning and accountability of elected governments. The committee will ultimately deliberate on possible safeguards and institutional mechanisms that could address these challenges while maintaining free, fair, representative, and constitutionally sound elections.

Consideration of legislative and policy measures to strengthen India's economic resilience against global geopolitical and energy shocks, with reference to the U.S.–Iran conflict, crude-oil volatility, ethanol blending (E20), inflation, taxation, trade and energy security.

Description

The committee will deliberate on legislative and policy measures to strengthen India's economic resilience in the face of global geopolitical developments and energy-market shocks. Discussions will examine the implications of the U.S.–Iran conflict and crude-oil price volatility for India's energy imports, inflation, fiscal pressures, trade and the broader economy. The committee will also consider the opportunities and challenges associated with ethanol blending, including E20, diversification of energy sources, strategic energy security, trade resilience and measures to reduce vulnerability to external disruptions. The committee will assess possible policy, institutional and regulatory safeguards to manage short-term shocks while strengthening long-term domestic capacity, energy diversification and economic stability. The deliberations will aim to contribute towards an India Economic Resilience and Economic Security Roadmap that supports sustainable growth, energy security and greater preparedness for future global shocks.
